TEACHING ACTIVITIES:

- Frontier Nursing University
 - PC701 (Principles of Health Promotion): This course teaches advanced practice nurses to utilize health promotion strategies to provide care for individuals and populations. Principles of advanced practice, client-centered care, behavior change, and evidence-based practice are addressed. Using standards of practice, students will identify current gaps in population-based health promotion strategies in the context of health equity. Strategies that incorporate clear and respectful communication skills are employed to promote cultural safety, inclusivity, ethical care, and social justice in the healthcare environment.
 - PC739 (DNP Clinical Preparation): This course provides foundational preparation for students to effectively start their DNP clinical project courses in subsequent terms. Students review biostatistical concepts, quality and safety initiatives, develop an understanding of the role of diversity, inclusion, and professionalism, and hone scholarly writing abilities. In addition, students identify a suitable clinical site, obtain approval for their DNP QI project, and identify a mentor and sponsor and complete clinical compliance for their site.
 - PC740 (DNP Clinical Scholarship Planning): This course exposes students to the latest evidence-based clinical practice resources, clinical safety, and systems analysis tools, as well as interprofessional, collaborative learning networks. Students demonstrate competence with clinical scholarship related to care of individuals, families and populations while exploring the fundamental processes of information literacy, family centered systems, and systems level safety. Learners are guided through the process of planning a quality improvement project within a healthcare delivery system to translate evidence into practice. Students apply quality improvement theories, processes and methods and gain practical experience with the fundamentals of systems improvement. Learners practice information literacy, and quality improvement process literacy while continuing to develop scholarly communication skills.
 - PC743(DNP Clinical Scholarship Implementation): This course guides students through the process of working within a healthcare delivery system to translate evidence into practice. Students use rapid cycle improvement methods to implement an evidence-based practice project throughout the term. Within interdisciplinary teams, students gain practical and academic experience with the fundamentals of systems improvement. Students complete plan, do, study, act cycles, evaluate data to inform small tests of change, and complete a clinical practicum summary. Learners practice interprofessional team building, family centered systems improvement and practice quality improvement process literacy while continuing to develop scholarly communication skills.
 - PC744 (DNP Clinical Scholarship Dissemination): This course is the third of a three-part series designed to develop clinical practice scholars. Students explore sustainability, spread and scale of their DNP project. This course guides students through the dissemination phase of translating the evidence into practice. Learners demonstrate interprofessional leadership skills and best practices in program dissemination. Students complete their DNP clinical portfolio by creating the business case for quality, value, and financial stewardship. Student learners demonstrate advanced levels of clinical judgement, systems thinking, and accountability in designing, delivering, and evaluating evidence-based care to improve population health. Finally, the role of DNP leaders in maintenance of a healthy work environment and prevention of professional burnout are explored.

- PC790 (Independent Study [variable]): This course is designed for students to complete supervised study related to content in primary care courses. The content varies according to individual needs and interests. This course may be completed a maximum of three (3) times under different subtitles.

- Northern Kentucky University

- DNP 896 I - IV: This practicum/project provides the student with the opportunity for integration and synthesis of the Essentials for Advanced Nursing Practice across the curriculum. Students develop, implement, evaluate, and disseminate a scholarly project with the guidance of course faculty and a practice mentor that focuses on problems of practice within specific populations.
